

Trove at 15: a snapshot and looking forward

Dr Jenny Ostini, Director Trove Community Services

Elizabeth MacKenzie, Assistant Director Trove Community Liaison

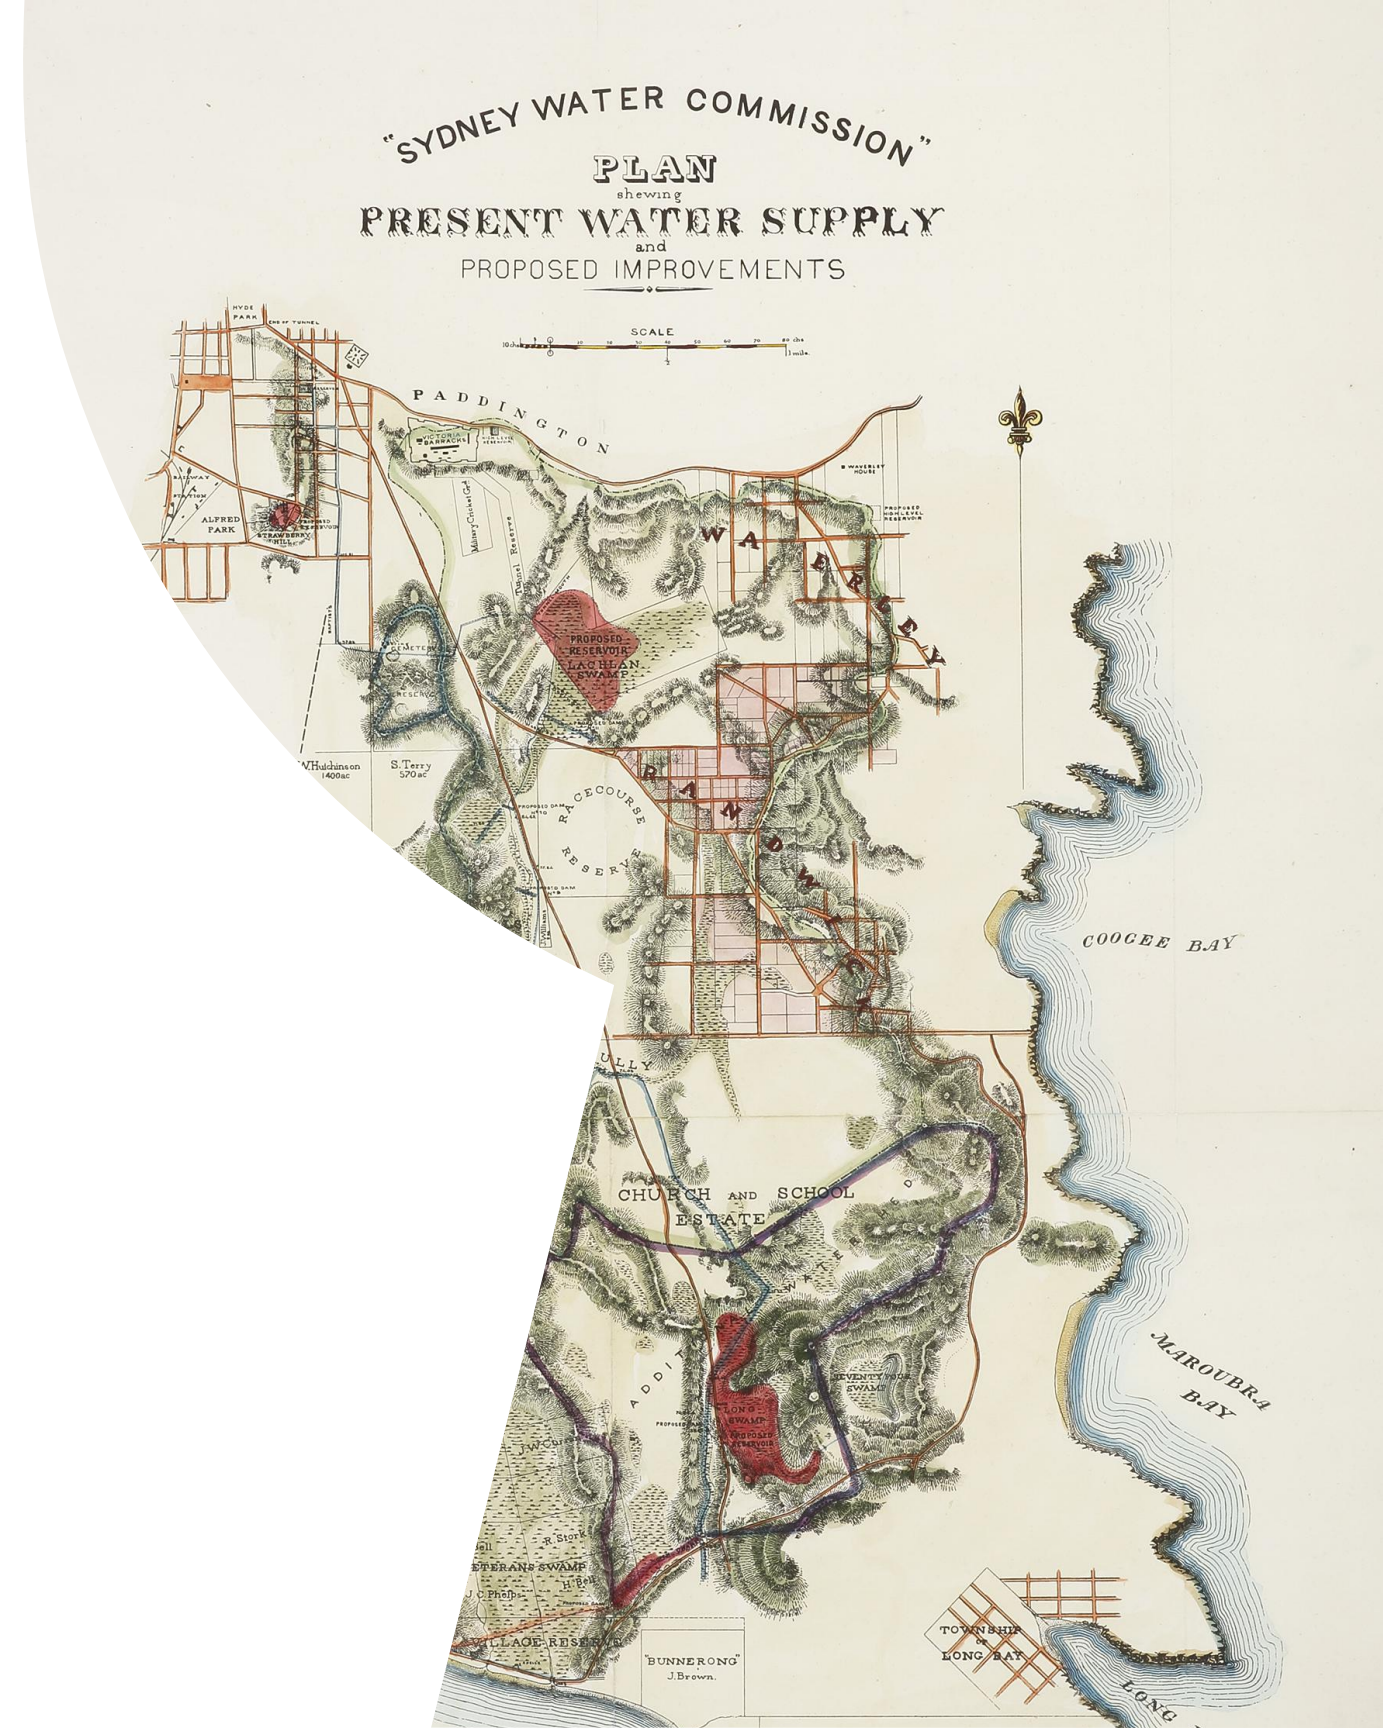

We acknowledge the Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples of this nation. We acknowledge the traditional custodians of the land and pay our respects to ancestors and Elders, past and present.

We are committed to honouring Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' unique cultural and spiritual relationships to the land, waters and seas and their rich contribution to society.

Trove at 15: enquiries

2024 Trove enquiries by geographic area

Trove equally services Australia's population

- Metropolitan 19%
- Inner Regional 28%
- Outer Regional 20%
- Remote 16%
- Very Remote 17%

Enquiries have been weighted based on Regional Population data, adjusted by what would be expected if Australia's population was equally dispersed. E.g., Enquiries from very remote areas are weighted more than enquiries from Metropolitan regions which are more population dense.

What do Trove users think?

“Thank you for this wonderful resource. I have been researching my family's history and Trove has been a wonderful tool to access. I found out information that I never knew or filled in gaps of part-stories that had been passed down to me from my parents.”

“I use Trove regularly for my research. Just knowing where to look and what to look for is sometimes the main problem. Using Trove has made researching things so much easier.”

“Can you tell me about copyright status on Trove? I need to determine if I can use the 1914 preliminary plan of Canberra as the basis for entry into a quilt show. I intend to project and embroider it.”

“Almost every university student I have interacted with across the past decade that is studying Australian history could not have achieved their research projects without the likes of Trove.”

the evening, in expectation of Mr. Pulver who is down from Sydney we had a small party of friends including Mickart, Mr. Stockfield & Steele. Pulver however did not put in appearance, which is sur-

TROVE

Trove Community Services

- Our work explores, describes and explains who uses Trove, for what and to what outcome. This knowledge will be used to support Trove communities to successfully access and use Trove in different ways for different purposes. We have a strong focus on building networks with Trove communities of users including universities, individuals, communities, GLAM and non-GLAM organisations.
- The section also delivers Digitisation on Demand services which operates as a key point of interaction with Trove, wider Library users and the wider community.
